

Safety Director Training Program

Over four million workers at private businesses in the U.S. were injured on the job in 2006, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics division of the U.S. Department of Labor. The direct aggregate costs to businesses for those injuries is staggering. But most on-the-job illnesses or injuries are preventable. A Safety Director on your staff can provide daily oversight and increase the overall safety of your employees, vendors, contractors, and customers.

If you're willing to make an investment in improving your bottom line, we can help. Nationwide Agribusiness offers a comprehensive Safety Director Training Program that trains your designated employees to become on-staff Safety Directors. This demonstrates to your employees your commitment to their safety, and provides continuous vigilance in finding, monitoring, and managing safety risks at your business. It offers additional support to the risk management advice and guidance you continue to count on from your Loss Control Consultant.

Our Safety Director Training Program uses carefully prepared and easy-to-understand self-study courses that teach the principles of risk management, safety, and regulatory compliance. Your employee(s) will complete seven Core Modules and two or more of the Specialized Modules, which are tailored to your operation's specific risk management needs.

Core Modules

There is a one-time, nominal fee for the Safety Director Training Program to cover administrative costs and subsequent updates. Your Loss Control Consultant will have specific information about any costs that may apply.
